

Ellen SinreichLand Use Attorney*

Ellen is a Green Building lawyer providing strategic sustainability services to business and governmental entities. She has assembled a team with outstanding talent in the technical, financial and legal environmental arenas, including LEED Accredited Professionals, building construction experts, energy engineers, climate scientists, legal, financial and tax strategists and real estate industry practitioners. This Going Green resource network of strategic alliances, specialty contractors and green resources will partner with you at the enterprise, portfolio and individual property levels to plan and implement sustainability strategies aligned with your organization.